As the President of SDM Educational Society, he has been phenomenally successful in leading more than 40 institutions. What motivates Dr. Heggade is the rich tradition of our country in holding the spirit of enlightenment high.

We have a reputation for providing the light of knowledge to the world for thousands of years. And that tradition, thankfully, still guides us as we rapidly moving to a world of technical excellence. Though technical education has been given much importance and there's immense scope for those who pursued technical education, there's still a dearth when it comes to finding the right talent. This can be attributed to the lack of quality education coupled with a hesitation to adapt to the changing times. It's this fact that prompted SDM Educational Society to take a great step in the field of technical education.

FUNDAMENTAL RULES WITH REGARD TO PLEADINGS

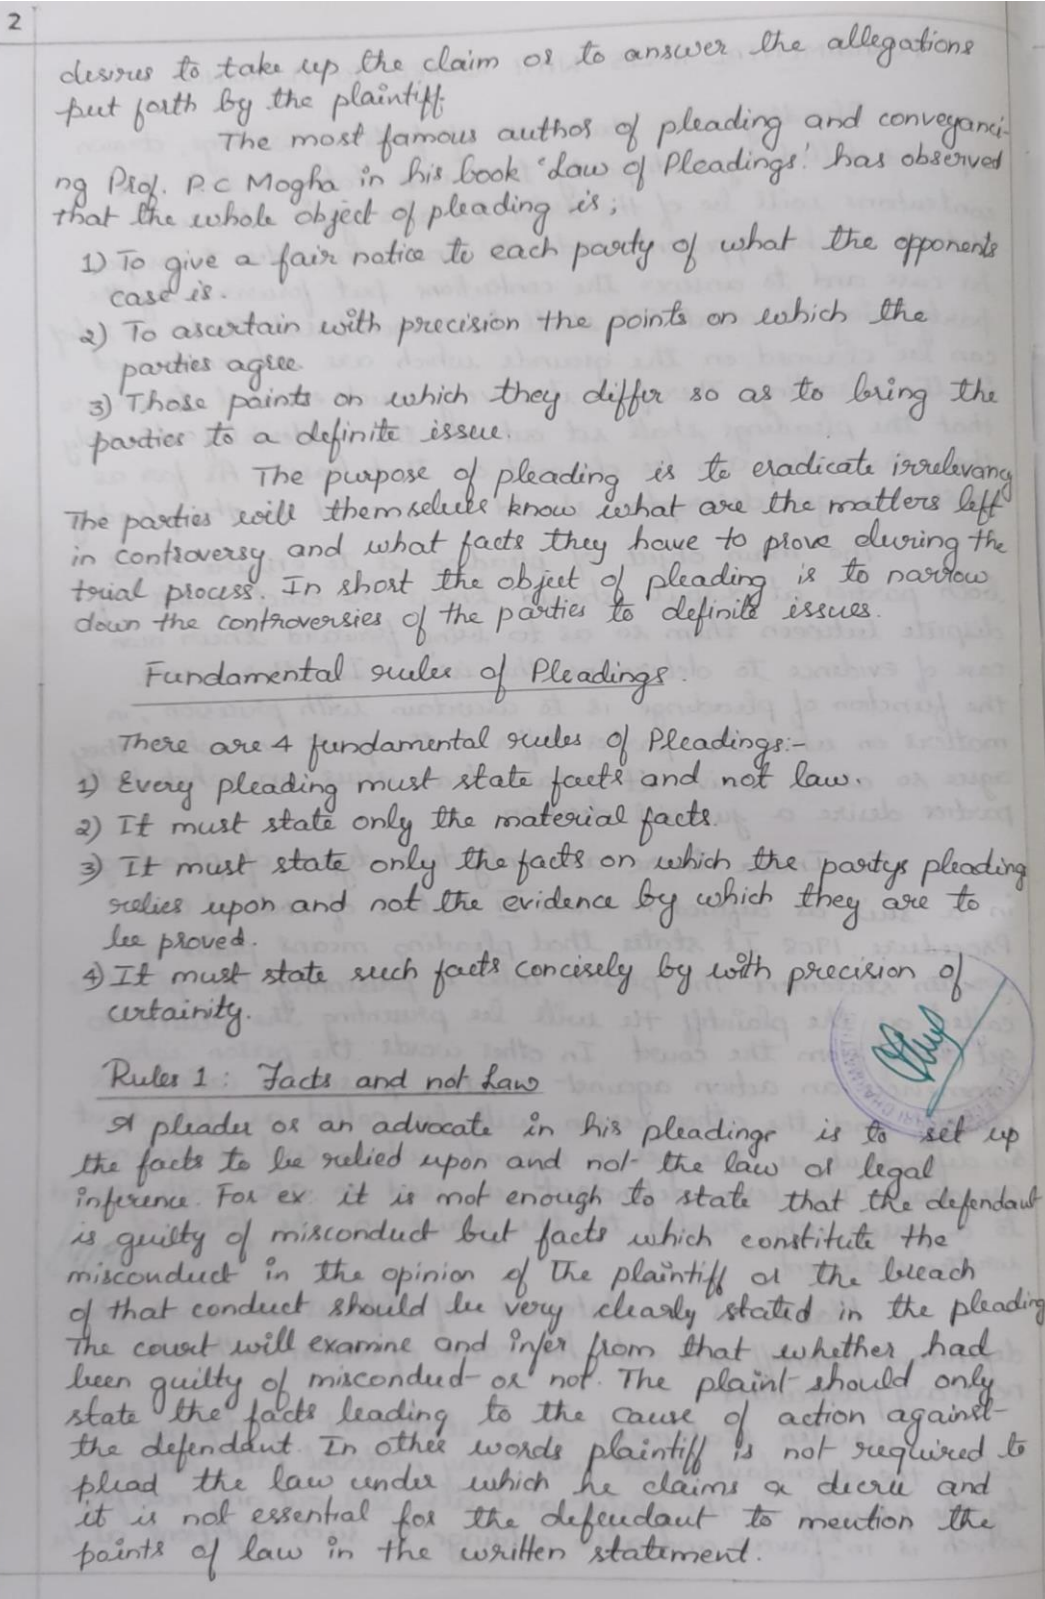

Pleadings are statements of facts in writings, drawn up and filled by each party to a case stating what his contentions will be of the trial. It also gives all such details as his opponent needs to know in order to propose his case and to answer the contentions put forward by the party going to court. It shall be remembered that no relief can be claimed on the grounds which are not contained in the pleadings. Therefore, it is very much essential to ensure that the pleadings shall set out all the material facts, only then the relief can be claimed on that basis. As far as possible vague description should be avoided in the pleading.

The main object of pleading is to ensure that both parties at dispute should know the exact points of dispute between them so as to bring forward their own case of evidence to determine the issue. In other words, the function of pleadings is to ascertain with precision, in matters on which the parties differ & the points on which they agree so as to arrive at certain clear issues on which both parties desire a judicial decision.

In India there are only two types of pleadings in a suit as defined in Order VI Rule 1 of Code of Civil Procedure, 1908. It states that pleading means plaint or written statement. The person who is presenting the plaint is called as the plaintiff. He will be presenting the plaint to get relief from the court. In other words the person who commences an action against another person is called as plaintiff and the other person will be called as defendant. So defendant is the person against whom civil proceedings are drawn. The term defendant is used in CPC with regard to a person who replies to the plaint in the form of written statement.

Plaint is a statement of defences in which the defendant plaintiff sets out his cause of action with all necessary particulars.

Written statement is a statement of defences in which the defendant deals with every material fact, alleged by the plaintiff in the plaint and also sets out any new facts which is in his favour and also addings to such objections as he

GENERAL PRINCIPLES OF DRAFTING OR QUALITIES OF A GOOD DRAFT.

Drafting is both a science and an art. It is a science in so far as certain rules can be laid down which are of universal application to all kinds of measures that come up for drafting certain set of rules has to always observed by all draftsmen for the purpose of securing uniformity in drafting.

Drafting is also an art.

Efficiency in drafting comes not by mere mastery of the rules, but by the exercise of a faculty of mind which can be described as skill or natural gift. Just as a good artist or a good cook who decides by instinct the colour to be used for a particular part of a picture or the ingredients to be put when preparing a good dish or just like a good musician who spontaneously fixes particular notes to which a part of the song should be set. Similarly a good draftsman senses the words or group of words to be used to carry out the intended meaning.

Drafting or Legal writing is more of an art because it requires :-

- a. Good Language.
- b. Clarity
- c. Use of appropriate technical words.
- d. Thorough knowledge of subject matter
- e. Logical arrangements of statements or events.

The following are general principles or the qualities of

- good draft.
- Clarity
  - Precision
  - Consiseness
  - Completeness
  - Selection of Appropriate words.
  - Certainty and Effectiveness
  - Clear and firm thinking
  - Logical Arrangements

a. Clarity

Clarity is a virtue easily desired but not so easily achieved

There should be absolute clarity in drafting so that the reader is able to understand the context, without any difficulty. Simple and appropriate words should be used with will avoid any confusion in the mind of the reader wherever necessary, the subject matter of the #### d. Certainty.

Precision and certainty are linked together. Precision is concerned with what to be provided for, certainty is concerned with how it to be provided for. Certainty emphasis on the choice of words because wrong placing of words, wrong grammar, wrong use of words will lead to ambiguity and confusion.

e. Completeness.

A Draft should be free from all deficiencies in order to ensure the completeness about the matter on which it is intended. It should contain all the essential information and it should answer all the possible questions as far as possible which may arise in the mind of the reader.

f. Selection of Appropriate words

Selection of words at the appropriate place in the golden rule of good drafting. The word should convey the real meaning to the reader.

g. Short Sentences.

Simple and short sentences should be used which must be complete and accurate in other words long sentences should be avoided in a draft. But this requires the use of appropriate legal words and phrases.

h. Clear and firm thinking.

It is one of the important aspect of good drafting. The draftsman should have clear thinking about the subject matter and with regard to the documents that he is going to draft. In the absence of clear thought the draftsman will not be able to express himself with clarity and it might be a confusion. Clear thinking will result in systematic arrangements of subject matter in the draft.

i. Logical Arrangements

A good draft should contain logical arrangement of material. This means the statement and events should be arranged in an orderly manner so that the reader is able to understand the subject matter properly without being trapped into any conclusion. There should be consistency in writing to create a good impact on the reader.

Logical Arrangements Avoids:

1. Any chance of Omission
2. Any chance of repetition of a relevant fact.
3. Drawing False conclusion.

Introduction.

Nations, states, brands & companies can buy and sell goods on other marketplaces thanks to international trade. This trade may result in a wider variety of products and services available to domestic clients. It permits development and growth while eliminating the risks associated with internal R&D. There are certain disadvantages to trading. Instead of importing products and services, a country can profit by exporting them. It can also be utilized to compete with domestic industries by using lower but no less valuable items.

What is Global Trade, exactly?

The exchange of commodities and services across international borders is known as international trade. To be more explicit, it alludes to the exporting and importation of products and services. In contrast to import, which refers to the transfer of goods into the nation, export describes the sale of goods and services beyond the country.

- <https://www.javatpoint.com> > advantages - and - disadvantages

The three major types of international trade are export, import and outlet trade. Trade in exports and imports has already been covered. Entrepot trading, commonly referred to as re-export, combines import and export trade. It involves importing goods from one country, giving them value-adding, and exporting them to another.

The Advantages of Global Trade.

1. Benefits of Specialization And labor division.

It is advantages in several ways. The division of labor and the resulting specialization are significant benefits. Different sorts of Producing agents are found in other geographical areas. Specializing in manufacturing those items for which their factor equipment is best suited is advantages for any nation or region.

For instance, Britain is blessed with coal and iron ore. oil resources in middle eastern nations. South east asian nations: tin, rubber, tea, India, sea Lanka.

Footnote.

.ibid

Therefore, nations with a distinct advantage over a particular good can specialize in producing it and trade it for a superior good from a different country. Impact, as it is less expensive than making that.

2. The Accessibility And Affordability Of goods.

Consumers can get foreign items at lower costs thanks to international trade. Foreign goods are typically imported due to their greater affordability than native goods prices.

3. Prominent Production.

Specialization allows for the optimal utilization of production elements. The greater output will be achieved by discipline, large-scale production, and the introduction of machinery. Additionally, it increases their demand and consumption, which promotes further discipline and lowers the cost of goods and services globally.

Foot note

: ibid

4. Development Of The Industrial Age.

A new industrial civilization has been produced due to global trade, specialization in large-scale production, the use of machinery, and the exploitation of natural resources.

5. Internal Price Stabilisation.

With the aid of international trade, a nation's surpluses might be exported to another country, and imports could make up a nation's deficits. In the end, this will ensure the internal price level to stabilize.

6. High Production Costs.

The countries can purchase goods through international trade that they cannot create locally due to a lack of necessary inputs, demand, or excessive production costs. Only through international trade will raw materials and technology be available to Europe and Africa.

Foot note.

.ibid

7. Transportation improvements.

The advancement of global trade has improved the world's transportation infrastructure.

8. Sovereign Solution for Starvation and War.

International trade allows a nation's citizen to survive during times of famine, security, and conflict by importing goods from other countries, like food, clothing and medicine.

9. Advancement of developing Countries.

International trade enables economically underdeveloped and backward nations to import capital goods and machinery in return for their raw materials, agricultural output, and food supplies.

Case No 1:- In the matter of D, an advocate AIR 1956 SC 102
Bench - S R Das, B K. Mukherjee, J. L. Venkatarama, Ayyar, JJ.

FACTS OF THE CASE

The respondent, advocate D, is a practicing advocate in the Bombay High Court. In 1953, the advocate was prosecuted before Mr. Sonawane, one of the Presidency Magistrate at Bombay, on having committed an offence under the Bombay Prohibition Act. The trial was from July 1953 to November 1953.

On 18-11-1953 the advocate was convicted by the magistrate of the offence of which he was charged, and sentenced him to rigorous imprisonment for a period of one month and a fine of ₹ 201. In addition to this, on default of payment of fine, rigorous imprisonment of 4 weeks were included.

The advocate then appealed to the High Court where where the High Court upheld the conviction but the sentence was altered to the fine of ₹ 100. On 24-02-1954. In the meanwhile, the trial court Magistrate, Mr. Sonawane made a report to a registrar of Bombay High Court regarding the conduct of the advocate who appeared in person as the accused. The Hon'ble Chief Justice of Bombay High Court constituted a tribunal consisting of three members of the Bar Council to enquire into the conduct of the advocate on 16-3-1955. The respondent pleaded guilty to the charges levied against him. The tribunal made a request to the High Court where on the respondent's own admission, it was held that the allegation in the report of Mr. Sonawane were

REASONS FOR JUDGEMENT-

1. The conduct of the advocate in the criminal trial against him in the court of magistrate was entirely improper by any standard. It disclosed a continuous attempt on the part of the advocate to be rude and contemptuous of the Magistrate to hold up the trial and to do everything in his power to bring the administration of justice in ~~power~~ contempt, such a conduct merits severe condemnation. The advocate ~~is~~ has indulged into a conduct unworthy of a member of the honourable profession to which he belonged and so he should be suspended from practice for the same time.
2. Being an advocate of the Supreme Court and entitled under the Supreme Court Advocates Act to exercise his profession in all courts in India any suspension for a period less than fixed by the Bombay High Court would lead to inconvenience. Hence, the advocate was suspended for a period of ~~no-~~ terms with the period of suspension fixed by the Bombay High Court.
3. The advocate pleaded guilty and admitted the correctness of the report against him by the magistrate. He also tendered an unconditional apology to the tribunal evidently in the hope that he would get away with it by merely tendering an apology.
The Supreme Court agreed with the observation of the Bombay High Court and the report of the Bench. It was observed that all the above-mentioned reasons were correct and upheld the judgment of the

to hold up the trial and do everything in his power to bring the administration of justice into contempt. Thus in the view of the conduct of the advocate, I support the opinion of the Supreme Court to suspend the advocate from practice. I also agree with the justification provided by the Hon'ble Court to uphold the period fixed by the Bombay High Court for the suspension as the advocate was entitled to practice his profession in any court throughout the Union of India and any period lesser would be irregular in nature.

Defendant

Brief facts of the case

The plaintiff is the landlord of the suit schedule property which is fully described in schedule 'A'. The defendant is monthly tenant. The monthly rent paid by him is RS 25,000/- It has to be paid on or before 5th of every month. There is a rent agreement/ lease agreement between the plaintiff and defendant for 11 months renewable with few changes. The defendant has also paid RS. 5 lakhs as deposit.

Even though the premises is located within Mangalore city Corporation the plinth area is more than 250 sqft and hence the K.R.P. 1999 is not applicable to this. Hence the suit has been filed before this Honourable court as original suit.

The defendant has been a monthly tenant from 2015-2021. After every 11 months a new lease agreement would be drafted.

The plaintiff comes to know that defendant has sub-letted the suit schedule premises and also creating nuisance by illegally dumping waste materials in the vacant adjacent land. The defendant is also arrears of rent from past 10 months. For all the above said reasons the plaintiff has decided to put an end to the lease by issuing a quit notice under section 106 of T.P. Act and also issued the letter of termination asking him to surrender the vacant possession of the suit schedule property.

The defendant states that in spite of several demands and also a letter dated 10/10/2021, the plaintiff has failed to take possession of the suit schedule property and to return the deposit amount of RS. 5,00,000/-

INTRODUCTION

The term Negotiations refers to a strategic discussion intended to resolve an issue in a way that both parties find acceptable. Negotiations involve give and take, which means one or both parties will usually need to make some concessions.

Negotiations involve two or more parties who come together to reach some end goal that is agreeable to all those involved. One party will put its position forward, while the other will either accept the conditions presented or counter with its own position. The process continues until both parties agree to a resolution or negotiations break off without one.

The various stages of Negotiation are :-

- 1) Preparation
- 2) Exchanging Information.
- 3) Bargaining
- 4) Closing the Deal.

INTRODUCTION

Conciliation is a form of Alternative Dispute Resolution (ADR), in which an impartial third party, called conciliator, helps two or more parties in a dispute to reach a mutually agreeable settlement. The conciliator does not impose a solution, rather facilitates communication and negotiation between them.

Conciliation is often used to resolve dispute in a variety of settings, including business employment, family law and criminal law. It can be a helpful way to resolve disputes quickly and cost effectively, and it can also help preserve relationships between the parties.

Conciliation is a voluntary process, and the parties can withdraw from it at any time. It is also confidential, meaning that the discussions that take place during the conciliation process are not disclosed to the parties.

The Victorian tractor company was the dealer and supplier of tractors. They supplied tractor to a farmer which happens to be a faulty tractor. Instead of trying to negotiate with the company from where he purchased it, the farmer kept quiet for several months. Later, after the expiry of warranty period, the farmer approached the said company and eventually they refused to discuss the matter with him further as the warranty period has already expired. So, the farmer decides to take the help of conciliator.

I, Manohar Shetty, s/o Dayanand Shetty, 1/4 Mangaluru and Mr. Bharath Shetty, Mr. Ajith, Ms. Suran, Ms. Reshma are coparayers of Hindu Joint family; headed by the deceased Kartha. After the death of our parents in an unavoidable circumstances accident, I, Manohar, the eldest son became Kartha by default at the age of 18. The other siblings were of age 11, 9, 7 and 4 respectively. The family properties were equally divided among all the coparayers; the dwelling house, 8 ~~acres~~ agricultural land and shopping complex

I had to put an end to my ~~studies~~ in order to take care of the property left behind by our parents. I also had the responsibility of upbringing my siblings. I raised them with utmost love, care and affection. I realised that his siblings lacked mother's love and care, and so I got married at age of 21 to Ms. Disha and shared the responsibility with my wife. I and my wife were the father and mother to their siblings. Later we had our own children; Chaitra and Vaishaka. We never let the siblings know their difficulties as we did not want to burden them. I ever opened a sawing factory to help

b) NEGOTIATION AND DIFFERENT APPROACHES TO NEGOTIATION

Negotiation is the dominant element in all Alternate Dispute Resolution techniques. It is a system where the parties themselves try to resolve the conflict without the involvement of 3rd neutral party.

According to Nelson Mandela, 'Negotiations and discussions are the greatest weapons we have for promoting peace and development.'

Negotiation is a process of dispute resolutions between the parties without the involvement of neutral 3rd part person. It is a voluntary non-binding communication process to resolve conflicts where parties control the outcome and procedure and who have is charge of wide range of solutions.

Characteristics of Negotiation

1) Communication process :-

Negotiation takes place through communication between both parties where they themselves try and find a solution.

2) Resolving Conflicts :-

The disputed parties try to resolve the conflicts through negotiation without intervention of 3rd party.

3) Voluntary :-

The parties voluntarily go for negotiation as it is cost-effective and also not so time consuming.

4) Non-binding :-

It is not necessary that whatever they decide are binding on the parties. They have to sign an agreement to make settlement binding.

5) Parties control the outcome and procedure :-

Since there is no law to regulate negotiation procedure, the parties themselves have control over the entire procedure that takes place and hence they control the outcome too.

a) Wide range of Solution and Maximize joint gains :-

Since there is no formal procedure, there is a possibility of wide-range of solutions. Sometimes, these solutions may lead to maximizing the gains of both the parties.

Styles / Approaches of Negotiation

The parties incorporate various negotiation strategies. The style or approach of a party is evident through their language, communication skills, the way they bargain, etc. The 2 styles of Negotiation are:-

(i) Cooperative Style :-

In this style of negotiation, the parties mutually understand each other's rights and their interests and try to settle the dispute in a cooperative manner.

(ii) Competitive Style :-

Here, the party tries to protect its interest and attacks the other party so as to gain whatever he wants to achieve through the negotiation process.

The five kinds of approaches in negotiation are :-

(i) Avoidance :-

Here, the situation is like - 'I lose You lose'. The parties do not talk about the issue directly. They talk about the issue in a vague manner. They don't want to solve the issue. It is like they want to postpone it or not interfere with it. The party neither protects his interest nor the interest of other party.

(ii) Accommodation :-

Here, the situation is like, 'I lose You Win'. One of the party wants to better the relationship and foster the relations by sacrificing his interest in the favour of other party. The party which sacrifices its interest is called accommodator.

(iii) Competitive :-

Here, the situation is like 'I Win You Lose'. The party wants to protect its interest at any cost. It does not want to concede its interest to settle the dispute or resolve conflict. The party which wants to protect its interest is called competitor. It is for achieving short-term goal.

(iv) Compromise :-

Here, the situation is like 'I win some and lose some; You win some and lose some'. It is a situation where the parties split the differences. Both the parties are ready for concessions that is lose some thing for gaining some other thing. It is in middle of ascertaining and sacrificing. The party is competitor as well as accommodator.

(v) Collaborate :-

Here, the situation is 'Win-Win'. Both the parties gain after the settlement of the conflict or after resolving dispute. This is an ideal negotiation. It is seen in Integrative type of negotiations.

So, these are the various styles or approaches to negotiation process. There is no particular criteria for choosing a style or approach. It depends upon the situation.

c) MEDIATION AND ESSENTIAL CHARACTERISTICS

Mediation is a process whereby the parties to a dispute try to resolve it in the presence of neutral 3rd person. The role of the mediator varies according to various kinds of mediation. It is a voluntary non-binding procedure where the parties settle the dispute or resolve conflict with the help of neutral 3rd person.

Mediation is of various kinds. Sometimes it is mandatory according to a statute or it may be private mediation where the parties themselves appoint mediator or court ordered mediation where the parties have to go for mediation, etc.

Mediation is helpful in resolving the disputes of the party in case of family matters, etc. The mediator sometimes counsels the parties and takes hears the parties privately so as to learn about the dispute and sometimes, such private conversations with the parties help in resolving the dispute or its conflicts. The parties have the ultimate decision making power and have control over the entire mediation process.

PREPARATORY EXAM 10/10 ANSWER BOOK

Roll No.: A 335 No.: 6984

Name: Kripa Rai M Date of Exam.: 16-01-2021 Marks:.....

Class: I LLB 3 years Section:..... Subject: Contract Law

1. a) "Contract without consideration is void" According to Section 2 (d), "When at the desire of the promisor, promisee or any other person has done or abstained from doing, or does or abstains from doing, or promises to do or to abstain from doing something, such act or abstinence or promise is said to be a consideration to promise" "Ex Nudo Facto Non Oritur Actio" means "no right of action arises from contract entered into without the consideration". Consideration forms an essential part while making a contract. It is entirely based on the principle of 'Quid Pro Quo' which means something in return or something for something. Exceptions to the rule are:- According to Section 25 of Indian Contract, "agreement without consideration is void unless -

- It is put in writing and registered.
- or is a promise to compensate for something done.
- or is a promise to pay debt based

by the limitation law.

1) Sec 25 (i) - Promise due out of natural love and affection.

If the consideration is given out of natural love and affection, then such consideration is valid. The requirements are as followed:

- It should be given out of natural love and affection between the parties.
- The parties to the contract should stand in a near relation.
- It should be put in writing and should be registered.

Ex1: A gives B ₹ 100, this is not a valid consideration.

Ex2: A, father of B gives ₹ 100 to his son out of natural love and affection and puts it in writing and registers it. This is a valid consideration. It can be explained with the help of case study given below:

Rajlaky Dabee v. Bhoothnath Mukerjee

Here husband lived with wife and later separated from her and started to live with another lady. In such case, she asked him to provide maintenance. Since she kept on irritating him, husband agreed <sup>and put in writing & register</sup> to pay. After few months there was <sup>no</sup> payment. When wife sued husband, Court held that though <sup>the</sup> parties stood in near relation and it was putin writing and registered, it was not a valid consideration because husband had agreed to give it not out of natural love and affection. Therefore the contract was considered to be void.

2) Section 25 (2) - Compensation for past voluntary services.

If an act is done voluntarily and other party agrees to give something for helping, then such consideration is considered to be a valid one.

Ex 1: A finds the purse of B. B agrees to pay an amount to A for finding the purse. Here the consideration is a valid one.

3) Section 25 (3) - Promise to pay the time barred debt :

If a person promises to pay the debt by writing it on a promissory note, then consideration is a valid one. The conditions are as followed:

- Promise to pay wholly or in a part of the time barred debt.
- The promise has to be in writing.

Example : A has taken loan from B. But his debt is barred by the limitation Act. In such case, A signs a written note to pay ₹ 500 on account of his debt. Then it is considered to be a valid one.

It can be explained with the help of case study, given below:-

- Tulsibai v. Same Singh.

The facts of the case are as follows:-
A took loan from B for which he provided a promissory. But when the due date came, A was not in a position to pay it. The creditor, B went to A and made him to put in writing behind the promissory note that the amount will be paid within next one year.

Therefore, these are the exceptions to the statement that "Contract without consideration is void." The contract becomes complete when there is offer and acceptance and along with that consideration is also needed which plays prominent role in any contract. It should be something in the form of act or abstinence or promise and all these constitute a consideration.

Only when the consideration is real and not immoral, illegal or opposed to public policy, consideration is said to be a valid one.

II b) <sup>Has no contract and there</sup> In the above case, there is no breach of contract. <sup>usually</sup> because the contract is formed when the offer is made and <sup>is</sup> accepted. In this case, the contract <sup>could be</sup> is formed when A offers to buy the book and the B makes an acceptance by receiving the money. <sup>So it was just an offer but no acceptance</sup> But B had not accepted the offer. According to Sec 2 (b), Acceptance is,
"When a person to whom the proposal is made signifies his assent, there to, the proposal is said to be accepted. Thus when the proposal is accepted it becomes a promise."
The similar fact can be seen in the case of Pharmaceutical Society of Great Britain v. Boots Cash Chemist Ltd, where a customer chose a medicine which was displayed on the shelf of pharmacy and the medicine consisted some sort of drug dosage. When this was seen by a member of Pharmaceutical Society he filed the case towards the owner of the shop. But the medicine was supervised by the chemist and given to the customer. It was held that, it <sup>in shelf</sup> was just displaying of medicine, was just an offer but the contract becomes complete at the cash reception when payment is made the cashier and is accepted by him. Therefore to make the contract complete

OBSERVATIONS

Academic Preparedness: Most of the students exhibited a strong foundation in their respective fields of study, demonstrating deep knowledge of key concepts and their practical applications. Their academic preparation was evident in how well they articulated complex ideas and solutions.

Communication Skills: We were impressed by the students' articulate communication abilities, which enabled them to convey complex ideas succinctly and persuasively. They confidently conveyed their thoughts, backed by clear and logical reasoning. Moreover, their ability to engage in meaningful dialogue and actively listen during discussions highlighted their interpersonal competence.

Professional Demeanour: The students approached the interviews with a high degree of professionalism, displaying punctuality, active listening, and a genuine enthusiasm for the opportunities presented.

Thinking: Many students exhibited strong critical thinking skills and demonstrated their ability. They arrived well-prepared, having researched both the position and the company, which underscored their genuine interest and commitment.

SUGGESTION

It was noticeable during the interview that many candidates expressed a strong interest in pursuing careers within the corporate sector. While this ambition is understandable, we believe there is an opportunity to broaden students' awareness of the diverse opportunities within the field of law.

The law encompasses a wide array of sectors beyond Corporate law, Criminal Litigation, Civil practices, Commercial Litigation, Property law, intellectual property law, Banking and finance law, Dispute Resolution, and more. Providing students with greater exposure and knowledge about these alternative career paths could significantly enhance their understanding and help them discover areas where their passions and skills may align more closely.

In conclusion, we commend your placement office for the meticulous preparation and invaluable support provided to these students. We sincerely appreciate your efforts in ensuring a streamlined interview process.
