EDITORIAL NOTE

It is indeed a momentous occasion for Bangalore University in general and University Law College in particular to bring out a Law Journal after completion of more than 50 years of its existence under the auspices of Bangalore University. The editors wish to place on record and thank V. B. Coutinho Trust for being kind and gracious to hand over the future publications of Bangalore Law Journal (BLJ) to the Principal, University Law College, to be published as "Bangalore University Law Journal" (BULJ). We also thank the Hon'ble Vice-Chancellor, Registrar and Finance Officer, Bangalore University, Bangalore for having accepted our proposal for the journal and sanctioning requisite funds for printing of the journal.

Research is an important aspect of the academic life of a teacher. The ever changing socio-legal dynamics present an opportunity to all the teachers to undertake research by writing scholarly articles on several issues and thereby contribute in furthering knowledge and promote future research.

It has been a long standing desire of the faculty of University Law College & Department of Studies and Research in Law, Bangalore University to have a journal of its own and we are happy that it is fulfilled with the blessings of Jurists, Senior Professors and Former Principals of University Law College, Bangalore University, Bengaluru.

The BULJ will be a peer reviewed journal inviting scholarly articles from faculty and scholars across the country. We hope the inaugural issue of BULJ would benefit the readers.
